Hello, I'm Seydina Ousmane Boye with over 6 years of experience as a photographer and videographer. With a degree in sociology and communication, specializing in digital, I chose to convert to photography to communicate strong messages. I consider myself a sociologist evolving in a digital world, sharing my vision of the world through my photos and videos.

I have collaborated with many companies, organizations and individuals to capture precious moments and create high quality visuals. Passionate about my work, I always try to capture the essence of each subject with creativity and originality. With my experience and my expertise, I am convinced that I can meet your needs.
